And this respondent, further answering said tenth article, says that the several occasions on which, as is alleged in the several specifications of said article, this respondent addressed his fellow clitzens on subjects of public and political consideration were not, nor was any one of them, sought or planned by this respondent; but, on the contrary, each of said occasions arose upon the exercise of a lawful and accustomed right of the people of the United States to call upon their public servants and express to them their opinions, wishes and feelings apon matters of public and political considerations, and to invite from such their public servants an expression of their opinion, views and feelings on matters of public and political consideration. And this respondent gliams and insists, before this honorable court, and before all the people of the United States, that of or concerning this his right of freedom of opinion and of freedom of speech, and this his exercise of such rights on all matters of public and political consideration and an respect of all public servants or persons whatseever engaged in or connected therewith, this respondent, as a citizen or as President of the United States, is not subject to question, inquisition, impeachment or inculpation in any form or manner whatsoever. Answer to Article 11.—And in answer to the eleventh article this respondent denies that on the eighteenth day of August, in the year 1566, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, he did by public speech or otherwise declare or affirm, in substance or at all, that the Thirty-ninth Congress of the United States was not a Congress of the United States of the United States was not a Congress of the United States of the United States of meaning other than that some States of the United States was not a Congress of the United States of the States in the season of the said article, that he legislation of meaning other than that some States of the United States, to the people of the United States,

I am sure that nothing was further from our purpose than that the gentleman who last took his seat, Mr. Stanbery spoke of having presented this application on their honor. No man questions their honor. No man questions of this kind to allow continuances to be obtained on a new point of honor. The rule of the Senate, which was adopted on the 13th inst., is the ordinary rule in couries of law—namely, that the trial shall proceed unless, for cause shown, further time shall be allowed. I submit that questions of this kind to count of this magnitude have never been decided on the mere presentation of counsel in this country or in any other country. The point of continuance arising, a question on the mere statement of counsel. If Andrew Johnson will say that there are witnesses not within the process of this court, but whose attendance he can hope to procure if time be allowed him, and if he expects to prove by them, I concede that on such a showing there would be something on which the senate might properly act; but instead of that he throws himself back on his counsel and has them to make their statements here that it will require thirty days of time in which to prepare for trial. He saw those gentlemen at the bar of this tribunal on the 18th inst. to notify the Senate on their honor that it would require forty days to prepare for trial. So the application was rejected.

Mr. Evarrs then submitted the following:—
Counsel for the President now move that there be allowed for preparation to the President of the United States for the trial, after replication shall be flied and before the trial shall be required to proceed, such reasonable time as shall now be fixed by the Senate. Senator Jonsson inquired whether it was in order to amend that motion.

The Chief Justice Informed him that it was in order to submit an independent proposition.

Senator Jonsson—I move, then, that ten days be allowed after filing replication.

Senator Sherman then moved that the Senate, sitting as a Court of Impeachment, adjourn till tomorrow at one o'clock.

The motion was agreed to and the court adjourned.

MISCELLATEOUS WASHINGTON NEWS.

WASHINGTON, March 23, 1868.

Brevet Major General Buchanan in Command of the Fifth Military District. The President has this day directed the assignment of Brevet Major General R. C. Buchanan, Colonel First infantry, to duty according to his brevet rank. This assignment puts him in temporary command of the Fifth Military District, and undoubtedly settles the question as to whether General Hancock will return there or not. General Buchanan had in the early part of February applied to be placed on duty on his brevet rank, which was approved by General Hancock; but in a letter written subsequently, referring to his approval, he stated that Buchanan would thereby be made his senior unless he too was placed upon his brevet rank. Upon this representa tion alone, and not for anything personal to General Buchanan, the application was disapproved at army headquarters and forwarded to the War Department. Rumors About General Granger.

The rumor has been passed around very diligently within the past two or three days that General Gordon Granger would soon be appointed commandant of the depot of Washington, and that General Emery, the present commander, would be relieved. General Granger to-day denied the truth of the rumor, and said that If any such order was in course of prepara tion it was entirely without his knowledge.

To-day, for the first time, my attention is called to a statement in the Washington correspondence of a New York newspaper, as follows:—

Soon after the dinner of the democratic members of Congress had taken place a long consultation was held, at which Mr. Evarts and Judge Pierrepont were present, in addition to the counsel who appeared in the Senate. * * The President contended that Gonkling's motion did not necessarily mean immediate trial, but that time might still be given; but Judge Pierrepont told him it was better not to deceive himself, &c.

There is no shadow of truth in the above statement. I have not seen the President nor entered the ment. I have not seen the President nor entered the mansion for more than a year and a half. I have never been consulted as his counsel, nor have I given him any advice, nor have I had an interview with NEW YORK, March 22, 1868.

AMUSEMENTS.

FRENCH THEATRE.-Mile. Tostée reappeared in "La Grande Duchesse" last evening with restored health and undiminished magnetism. It is scarcely necessary to add that she was welcomed with enthu-siasm by a crowded audience, and that under her in-spiration the whole operatic company blazed with spiration the whole operatic company blazed with even more than their wonted fire and fun. Mile. Tostée will appear again this evening and on Wednesday evening. The sovereign people of New ork will thus enjoy, for at least two nights more, a privilege denied to the Sovereign Pontiff and said to be envied by him. A French journal, aliading to the fact that La Grande Duchesse is now holding her court in the Eternal City, reports that his Holiness exclaimed, "Che disgrazia to think that I am the only sovereign in the world who cannot see this "Grand Duchesse". What giory to Offenbach to have created the only temptation the force of which the head of the Church is said openly to admit! "La Belle Héine" will be given at the French theatre on the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

WALLACK'S.—Last night "Rosedale" was repeated

WALLACK'S .- Last night "Rosedale" was repeated at this theatre, the house being crowded in every part. "Rosedale" requires no praise at our hands, and the great merits of Mr. Wallack's company are well known. Suffice it to say that last night "Rosedale" seemed a greater favorite than ever. If Mr. Wallack chooses he may run it with success for weeks and even months to come.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—How many people on a favorable night would be extracted to the festivating able night would be attracted to the fascinating accessories of legs and arms and handsome forms of the spectacle known as the "White Fawn," alias the "Black Crook," if there were room enough in the house for all comers cannot be told; but when the house is filled to overflowing from night to night all the year round, without the slightest regard to the weather, we may hazard the presumption that a gala night of this taking spectacle, with space enough, would draw an assemblage of a hundred thousand Christians, though, perhaps, not of the highest order of sanctity in the Church. As for the plot of this string of dances, processions and tableaux, it is of the same invisible gossamer as the plot of the top-spinning and tub-balancing feats of the Japanese troupe of the lamented Hah-yah-tah-kee, who died from a cold caught in the Catacombs. As for the moral of this exhibition, it is simply this, that if you hit the public fancy you may laugh at the parson; that if you build your speculation with taste and spiendor upon the capital stock of a house full of pretty women for the public amusement, the enterprise will succeed while grass grows and water flows. As for the execution of the various parts in this performance they are perfectly satisfactory to the spectator, and still, like little Oliver, he is disposed to ask for more. As Sam Slick would say, "There is a great deal of human nature in mankind after all, for even the church that has the prettlest gais draws the most worshippers."

Broadway Theatre.—De Walden's comedy, in four acts, "Joe," was presented last night to the a gala night of this taking spectacle, with four acts, "Joe," was presented last night to the patrons of this house, Mr. Chanfrau assuming in the course of the play four characters. "Joe" is not, in our opinion, equal in plot, force of language or indiour opinion, equal in plot, force of language or individuality of character to "Sam." There is little or no plot in "Joe." It is all told in the first act. "Joe" (Chanfrau) is in love with his ward Letty Honneydew (Miss Kate New ton) who has by sharp practice on the part of a couple of scoundrels, Creeper Flow (C. Haie) and Old Isaac, of California (Mr. Chanfrau), been swindled by a will, forged in the name of, her father, out of her fortune, who, we repeat, "thinks" she is in love with Wiley Whir! (C. Stoddart). It is Joe's endeavor to get Letty to love him and regain for her her fortune. He succeeds in both his undertakings, but in a manner that leaves his audience with but an indifferent idea of the subtlety of the villain of the story. The first act, in which the plot, such as it is, as developed, went off very well; the second hung fire; the third closed with a snap (schnapp) and the fourth was supersions. Mr. De Waiden has not, as a playwright, done himself justice, and Mr. Chanfrau loses in individuality by assuming the protean style of acting. The audience encorsed the play, notwithstanding its apparent defects, and we doubt not, with a little pruning and a little more plot, it will keep the stage for some weeks. Mr. Chanfrau was called out once during the evening—at the close of the third act—but the audience appeared to be oblivious of the author's presence.

reserved for the last week of her very successful engagement at this pleasant theatre the character of The question recurred on the application of consel for the President that they be allowed thirty tree audience, that in more than one instance attested with tears their accord with the fair beauty's tenderest emotions. Miss Reignolds was ably sustained by Mr. G. C. Boniface as Armand Duval and Mr. G. H. Clarke as De Varville, their renditions of these characters being full of that excellence they invariably present. Miss Reignolds should receive in this her last week the support of our amusement seeking public, which, indeed, she unmistakably deserves.

> gathered within the walls of this establishment as that which assembled last night to see Fox's grand that which assembled last night to see Fox's grand pantomime of "Humpty Dumpty." Blessed were they who did not expect standing room, for they were not disappointed. The gauzy and pedal glories of the ballet were sustained in the "White Fawn" style by Rita Sangail and Betty Rigl, with a band of accomplished dansenses. The pantomime is admirably contrived for funny tricks, in which Mr. Fox is quite at home. The scenery and transformations could hardly be excelled, while, to make the matter complete, the whole thing is done to lively and appropriate music, the "Grand Duchess" taking a very prominent part in the orchestra. The pantomime will be given at a matinée to-morrow, and will be repeated every night during the week.
> BOWERY THEATRE.—Miss Teresa Berry, a brilliant and accomplished comédienne, appeared at this favorite east side establishment last night in the well known comedietta "Pas de Fascination." She displayed considerable ability in the character of Katherine Kloper, and bore out to the fullest extent the high reputation she brought from California. Mile. Ronzait danced a pas seul and Bollas sang some comic songs after the comedietta. The rest of the programme consisted of the drama of the "Assasin of the Rocks," in which Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Blanchard and their trained dogs appeared, and the performance concluded with the "Midnight Banquet," a drama of the sensational kind.

New York Circus.-Numbers were turned away from the doors at the above establishment owing to a lack of accommodations occasioned by a crowded house. In addition to the usual evening's entertainhouse. In addition to the usual evening's entertainment a novel feature of the programme was that of the introduction of the wonderful "Cynocephaius." a large specimen of the baboon tribe. The animal is exceedingly well trained, and performs the usual ring tricks on horseback. In its actions it evinces a great deal of intelligence, as, for instance, in jumping over the bars while the horse is going at full speed, it times itself until the horse rises, and then makes its leap. It was brought from Havana to this city, to which city it had been brought from the imperial Circus of Paris. Its first performance here was loudly appianded by the large audience present.

favorite and well patronized little theatre was filled to its utmost capacity on the occasion of the opening night of the engagement of Mr. E. L. Davenport for a brief season of Shakspearian representations. The play selected was one in which this favorite American actor has achieved a triumph hardly second to that boasted of by any other actor, native or foreign—Hamlet—in which Mr. Davenport, of course, sustained the title role. His rendition of the part last evening showed the result of most careful and analytical study, and throughout the piece, in all of the more salient and effective passages, he was most warmly applauded. He was admirably supported by Mrs. Conway and a very efficient company, which at all times add much to the success of the Park theatre. Mrs. Conway, as Ophelia, during her brief appearance in the play divided the applanse with the Prince, and contributed largely to one of the most successful representations of the legitimate drama that has every yet been produced in the city of Brooklyn. The subordinate characters being, as before stated, excellently sustained, the performances of last evening, artistically and financially, were a complete success. Brooklyn Opena House.—The engagement of favorite and well patronized little theatre was filled BROOKLYN OPERA HOUSE.—The engagement of

Miss Emma Madden at this pleasant little temple last week drew crowded houses nightly, and the talented and popul v young artist took her farewell benefit on Saturd. y evening, playing before the largest and most enthusiastic audience of the entire season. Last evening Mr. Eddy respected, after an absence of several weeks, and was warmly greeted by his old and new admirers, who assembled in strong force. Mr. Eddy delineated his favorite dual character of Louis and Fabian de Franchi in the psychological drama of the "Corsican Brothers," and was supported throughout with marked ability by the excellent company. The comedy of "Paul Pry" concluded the evening's entertainment, which from first to last kept the large audience in a vein of demonstrative good nature.

His case was considered hopeless, and it was so reported in Sunday's Herald, Brooklyn Eagle and other daily papers. At this critical moment a gentleman purchased a 85 or pint bottle of WOLCOTTS PAIN PAINT, and saw that the remedy was faithfully applied. The effect produced was more than marvellous: for within tun minutes all pain vanished and the man sat upright to bed. He has had no other medical treatment, and is now considered not only out of danger, but has the best prospect for a speedy recovery. We would add that Mr. Fahn is a hardworking mechanic, and his family in very needy efecumentances. Is it possible that a man or woman laying claims to a benevolent heart will allow this worthy family to suder? Mr. Fahn lives on the corner of Smith and Batte streets, Brooklyn, top floor.
